

2. Read the text and write true (T) or false (F).

- a) Tarantula is a speciality in Cambodia.
- b) Iceland and Greenland cuisines offer you light dishes for your stomach health.
- c) The smell of the fermented shark attracts people to taste it.
- d) If a Viking eats rotten shark, he is considered as a brave person.
- e) Haggis consists of a sheep's liver, heart and lungs.
- f) Haggis is cooked in an animal's head.
- g) In the past, Turkish people cooked cows feet and head only in summers.
- h) The taste of the stewed feet and head is fine if the skull of the animal doesn't scare you.