

1. Read the pieces of advice below. Match them to the problems. Write 1, 2 or 3.

- a) You ought to talk to them. If they see that you're just doing your normal job, they may appreciate what you do. By the way, you shouldn't feel sad, I think. We love you, and you are really popular.
- b) If they think like that, you should give them more homework! The hard-working students will be happier, and lazy students will always complain.
- c) I think talking doesn't do any good. You should sometimes talk to their parents. I think you ought to remind them every day that they should study their lessons. After some time studying can become a habit for them.

2. Which advice is sensible? Which advice is silly? Why? / Why not?
