

1. Read the text and answer the questions.

a. What is 'Information Overload'?

b. Why is 'Information Overload' a problem?

c. Why was the invention of the printing press important?

d. Why is the human mind described as a bottleneck in the article?

e. Why do you think widespread access to the internet is a cause of 'Information Overload'?

2. Write true (T) or false (F).

a. 'Information Overload' is a phenomenon that was predicted in the 1970s.

b. 'Information Overload' can lead to people making decisions too quickly.

c. The best decisions are made when there is too much information for us to process.

d. The printing press is responsible for 'Information Overload'.

e. The human brain is advancing as quickly as modern technology.

f. 'Information Overload' is rare in a lot of offices in different countries.

