

A Eight of these he speaks fluently and the other 10 he speaks conversationally and they're not even from the same language family.

B He does this by revising grammar, reading newspapers, watching television, and speaking to his Swedish wife who speaks six languages!

C One of the most famous hyperpolyglots in history was Emil Krebs who had mastered 65 languages by the time of his death.

D Well the correct term is polyglot.

E These people are referred to as hyperpolyglots!

F This is because the human brain is a highly adaptive organ.

G Do you think that polyglots are able to learn so many languages for biological reasons or because of their persistence to keep learning?
